

Internet Safety at LWF

Students from different classes attended the first E-Safety meeting with special visitors Emma Whiltshire, parent Academy Advocate and Louise Borman our Police Community Support Officer. This is the first Federation meeting and the group will be active in supporting internet safety.

On Monday 22 January the PEERS group continued to discuss online safety. 'We know about the CEOP button – this is a button you can press to report things to the Internet police. You can press it when you need help if you're getting bullied on the Internet.'
